

LONGHOP

— ESTABLISHED 2005 —

...“that concentration is a winner.”

...“Rock solid.”

2016

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

ADELAIDE PLAINS

90PTS GARY WALSH - WINEFRONT

For fanciers of full-throttle, full-flavoured reds, at reasonable prices. Blackberry, blackcurrant, mint, dark chocolate, polished cedar, and maybe a whiff of tar. Full bodied, bright in its own way, with mixed berries and hazlenut, grainy tannin, neat acidity, and a firm finish of good length.

It's a bit rustic, in a good way, and delivers its message surely and well. Rock solid.

90PTS ANDREW GRAHAM OZWINE REVIEW

Adelaide Plains fruit. Luscious purple fruited style with some surprising mint and then drying, minty tannins. A big mouthful of wine, the luscious fruit offsetting the minty tannins. After the lush Shiraz and classic Grenache this feels a bit raw and minty. But again, that concentration is a winner. Best drinking: will likely be better next year, then up to 10 years.