92PTS GARY WALSH - WINEFRONT

Plum, brown spices, raspberry conserve, new leather and sage. It's supple, juicy, but offers some toasty/saline/meaty flavour too, along with grainy tannin, and a spicy savoury finish. Oak is pretty low key. Drinkability is high. Here's a rock solid example of South Australian Shiraz at a very fair price. It feels 'authentic'. In short, it's bloody good.

92PTS ANDREW GRAHAM OZWINE REVIEW

From old vines in the Mt Lofty Ranges also planted in the 1950s. Partial whole bunch and basket pressed. While the Grenache is red fruited with firm sandy tannins, this goes more purple fruit, a little spice and more plushness. It's saturated with plum and blueberries with a finish punctuated by sweet alcohol warmth, the style again concentrated and long. Lots of mouthfilling fruit here and again just $20. Best drinking: Now to 10 years. Jul 18
